NEW ROCHELLE

Plevna is dead, and a $75 headstone marks the spot of his last resting place. At the granite and marble works of Charles Murdock, in North-st., New-Rochelle, might be seen a few days ago a handsome granite block with a highly polished bevelled or sloping top, appropriately inscribed, intended to mark the spot where lies the body of a favorite and faithful dog of Thomas A. Maitland, the present owner of the Brdford mansion (originally built and occupied by Surrogate Bradford, of New-York City, on the old Post Road in the town of Rye). The headstone is now in position on the grounds near the home of the owner, and bears the following inscription, surrounded by a unique profiler:

lci Sommeille
PLEVNA,
Le Chien Bien Aime,
Sans Peur et Sans Reproche.
In translation it reads: "Here slumbers Pievna, the well-beloved dog, without fear and without reproach."

It is supposed that the name of the dog is in some manner associated with the siege and final surrender of Plevns in the year 1877, but as Mr. Maitland and his wife sailed for Europe last week to spend the winter there, no information on the subject can be obtained at the present time.

A small tempest is raging in Christ Protestant Eriscopal Church, Claremont-ave, and Clark-st., Jersey City, and yesterday a rumor was current that the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Hewlitt, would be asked to resign. Mr. Hewlitt said there was no truth in the story. He said the young men of the church had formed a St. Andrew's Brotherhood, church had formed a St. Andrew's Brotherhood, and he had attended the meetings and presided over them, as the church laws gave him authority to do. Some of the young men had objected to his presence and had tried to stir up a breeze about it, but he should continue to attend the meetings, as he thought some of the young men were disposed to be a little wild and needed looking after. He did not mean to allow the young men to do anything detrimental to the interests of the church, and he thought the congregation would sustain him. sustain him.

Charles H. Voorhis, of Jersey City, yesterday began suit against Justice Kearney, of Fairview, liergen County, on behalf of Henry Augustine, fifteen years old, of No. 32 Sherman Place, Jersey City Heights, Augustine went into Bergen County on Sunday to shoot birds. He was arrested, and Justice Kearney fined him $29. As Augustine did not have money enough to pay the fine, he left a valuable Coit's repeating rifle in pledge. The critention is that as Augustine was arrested for vielating the Sunday laws and not the game laws, Justice Kearney had no right to fine him, but should have sent the case to the Grand Jury and bailed Augustine to await the result.

Thill endeavored to quiet Guercin, and a scuffle followed, in which Thill was shot twice and died the next morning.

THE ARCHEISHOP OF GUATEMALA.

EXILED FROM HIS HOME-HE WILL LIVE IN COSTA RICA TO CARRY ON HIS WORK IN HIS OWN COUNTRY.

R. Casanova, Archbishop of Guatemala, sailed rom this city yesterday on the steamship City of Para. He arrived here on La Bretagne on Saturday from Rome, where he had been to consult with the Pope about the troubles which exist in his own untry. The Archbishop is a fine-looking man having a dark complexion and black hair of the Spanish type. He wore a black clerical suit yes-terday when a reporter saw him. "I am going to Costa Rica," he said, "to direct from there the spiritual affairs of Guatemala. I was exiled from Guatemala six years ago because objected to text books which the Government sought to introduce in the schools. The Govern-ment is strongly Masonic and anti-Catholic. I bjected to the text books because they were absolutely irreligious in parts, and I advised parents not to send their children to the schools where they were usedi-"Three petitions have been sent to the Congress by my friends and I sent a personal petition four months ago, but the sentence of exile has not been revoked. I have been living in Rome for the last few years. I have had a number of conferences with the Pope and know that the reason why Archbishop Satolli was sent to this country was to bring the Pope into closer relations with the American people. I can authoritatively state that the Pope is greatly pleased with Archbishop Satolii's work so far and approves his every action.

"As to the troubles in Brazil, those are matters which I have followed very closely and in which I take much interest. It is my opinion that the present revolution there will tend to break up the country. It looks now as if there was a better prospect of the restoration of the monarchy than ever before. But whichever side comes out ahead-whether Brazil remains a republic or becomes a military despotism or a monarchy again—one thing is certain, in my opinion, and that is the splitting up of the country into different States. This is or will be, the natural result of the enormous extent of the country, the paucity of means of communication and the difficulty of transporting troops and supplies to different parts of the republic. It is very much the case of the various local interests of the North and South here in your United States—only multiplied—with no strong central government to coerce union and stability. I do not think there will be any European intervention."

J. E. Lassus, Peruvian Consul at San Francisco, also sailed on the City of Para. ican people. I can authoritatively state that the

There is no danger of a revolutionary movement in Venezuela."

CLINTON BANK CHARGES HIM WITH FRAUD

A. M. COLLIGNON, A COMMISSION BROKER WHO FAILED IN BUSINESS SOME TIME

August M. Collignon, a well-known commission roker, who has been doing business at No. 230 Washington-st., New-York, and who lives in Passaic, N. J., was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff C. Upham on an order issued by Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court, charged with defrauding the Clinton Bank, of this city, out of $6,000. According to the affidavit of Frank H. Hyatt, the cashier, Collignon, on February 1, 1892. borrowed of the bank the sum above named, giving a note payable to Sarah Coilignon, which was duly indorsed by her. He represented, when he got the money, that he possessed property and stocks and largely in excess of all his liabilities, but during the month following he failed in business, offering the month tolowing he tailed in business, to pay his creditors fifty cents on the dollar.

The ground of his arrest, as set forth in the bank's complaint, was that he has been transferring bank's complaint, was that he has been transferrance his real and personal property to his wife and to other parties, for the purpose of defeating the efforts of the bank to collect the money borrowed. In default of $6.00 ball the defendant was locked up in Ludlow Strest Jail. Collegen has been doing a stock business for several years, and since 1829 has operately heavily through Henry Clews & Co., and other well-known firms.
